

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A PET resin container having an oxygen-capturing function and an improved level of oxygen barrier property is provided, with these performances
5 being achieved by applying radiation to the container after the molding operation.